President's Welcome

Welcome to Cleary University!

We are pleased you have chosen Cleary University to pursue your higher education goals and look forward to an exciting partnership throughout this adventure. You will find Cleary's academic programs and delivery model are based on providing you the skills, knowledge, credentials, and experiences that will enable you to advance your career. This is our mission and the guiding focus for all we do.

As you begin this quest, let me offer some tips to enhance your success. First, get to know the students within your cohorts (physical and virtual). They will form a foundation for your professional network. On this same point, take the time to become well acquainted with your faculty and the staff at the University. They too have professional networks and can be helpful to you as you advance your career. Finally, in this regard, if we get to know one another, I can be helpful to you as well – seize these opportunities.

Secondly, you will find capstone requirements are expected throughout your program. I encourage you to use these capstone projects to solve problems at your work place. Choose those issues that are meaningful to your boss – good things happen when you solve your boss' headaches!

Thirdly, adding the challenge of a university degree program will add stress to your life and that of those close to you. Learn to manage your time well so you can not only achieve tremendous results from your studies, but also enjoy this time in your life. Have fun!

Finally, as you complete your program, Cleary University will be your alma mater. You should be justifiably proud of your accomplishments with us. Many alumni have come before you – their success enhances your reputation as you advance your career, as your success will enhance that of those who follow you. Continue to be involved with Cleary, even after you graduate – you and your career will benefit.

And most importantly, for your water cooler conversation... your university is 124 years old, your school colors are red & blue, and you are a Cleary Cougar! Best wishes for your success!
